

JACKSON HOLE HAS MORE REASONS to GO with MORE FLIGHTS and MORE PASS OPTIONS

TETON VILLAGE, WY – Jackson Hole continues to deliver legendary powder snow, 4,139 continuous vertical feet, 2,500 acres of the best beginner, intermediate and expert skiing and snowboarding, and a genuine “Last of the Old West” atmosphere. Neighboring the legacy U.S National Parks of Yellowstone and Grand Teton and operating in Bridger Teton National Forest, there is no more spectacular setting for a destination resort in the world. With twelve nonstop cities and hundreds of international connections flying into the newly expanded airport (JAC), Jackson Hole is one of the most easily accessed resorts in the Rockies.

RPK 3

Locals in ski areas claim that there are no friends on a powder day. That can now change with RPK 3, the newest slope-side dining establishment in Teton Village. Conveniently located adjacent to the Tram, RPK 3 is the kitchen and bar offering fast casual lunch, fun après scene and everything in-between. With a menu that will satisfy each type of skier and rider, there is a mix of healthy, comfort food, and hot and cold beverages for mountainous appetites. Find a friend or two, and post up at RPK 3 to keep your body fueled up for all the epic days on the slopes.

Turn après up to RPK3 and look for drink and food specials. Celebrate a powder day with friends, food and festive beverages. The place seats over 150 people, adding much needed restaurant seats in the base area. It has an expansive bar, mix of communal and smaller tables and a modern fireplace in the center of the room. It is a destination for locals and visitors alike. RPK3 opens daily at 10 a.m. for bar service, 11a.m. for lunch and après goes until it is over.

What does RPK3 mean?

Rendezvous Peak, RPK is the snowfall forecast issued by the National Weather Service for the Bridger-Teton National Forest Avalanche center. The RPK is called around 3pm each day predicting the amount of snow expected in the next 16 hours. RPK3 means greater than six inches of snow, so in layman's terms, powder day!

Solitude Station:

The New Standard in Learning

Solitude Station is the latest offering in Jackson Hole's continued devotion to skier progression and the family experience. The newest on-mountain center for learning and growing at JHMR for kids and adults alike, Solitude is located a short 2-minute gondola ride from the base area. The expansive lodge at the Sweetwater Gondola mid-station, thoughtfully designed with 12,000 square feet of dining, rental, and the Mountain Sports School home base, is a premiere amenity for many guests looking to improve their skiing and riding. Geared for kids ages 7 and up, as well as families and group lessons, Solitude Station is designed to maximize learning development in an empowering and constructive atmosphere. This is a state-of-the-art concept unique to Jackson Hole and its unmatched mountain environment. The building will be open for family après experiences at peak times of the year and available for private events both summer and winter.

Meet JHMR's New President:

Mary Kate Buckley

Mary Kate Buckley was appointed by the area's owners, the Kemmerer Family, as Jackson Hole Mountain Resort's new president in June 2018. She brings to the position many years of business, marketing and entrepreneurial business experience. She has been on JHMR's Board of Directors since 2015, has been a passionate resident of Jackson Hole since 2009 and is a proud member of the JHMR 100 Club, achieved by skiing 100-plus days at the Jackson Hole in a ski season. In addition to being JHMR's first woman president, she brings with her skill sets honed over the years with a background in powerful brand and customer-centric companies such as Nike and Disney. Mary Kate is perfectly positioned to take on the next era at Jackson Hole, focusing on maintaining and growing Jackson Hole's leadership position in the ski industry.
